

Our current projects:

- Developing materials that encourage and educate about evangelism and discipleship
- Recording season 2 of the Living as a Disciple podcast & purchasing recording equipment
- Hosting the 2025 Rekindle the Fire evangelism conference
- Editing and reprinting our discipleship manual
- Offering a free RightNow Media (RNM) subscription to AFLC pastors and discounted subscription to AFLC congregations

How do these projects help you and your congregation?

Projects like these provide training and resources to AFLC congregations as they engage their communities with Christ. It's our joy and privilege to help churches minister effectively in our current culture and equip them with tools for sharing and living out the gospel. These tools are especially vital in today's context, as many communities are home to unchurched individuals—neighbors who may be open to spiritual conversations but are not yet connected to a church family. Through its resources for relational ministry, AED helps congregations identify effective ways to reach people outside their churches' doors by creating spiritual onramps that allow them to connect with the church.

How can I access these resources?

- Find our evangelism and discipleship materials on our website: aflc.org/evangelism.
- Listen to the Living as a Disciple podcast on Spotify, Apple Music, or YouTube.
- Find info about Rekindle the Fire 2025 at aflc.org/evangelism.
- Our discipleship manual is available on our website. The new revision will be available June 2025; email evangelism@aflc.org to request printed copies!
- For access to the free pastoral RNM subscription or discounted congregational subscription, email evangelism@aflc.org.

How can I get involved?

- Pray for provision to continue providing these resources for our AFLC congregations.
- Pray for God to use our AFLC congregations to draw people in our communities to Jesus.
- Invite AED to your church for a Sunday visit, Sunday school class, or other activities. We'd love to help you advance your evangelism & discipleship ministries!
